Top Guns is a movie starring Joseph Sikora, Scott Eastwood and Kaitlin Olson about a group of retired Navy SEALs who run a private security firm. They are recruited by the US government to track down an international terrorist who escaped from Guantanamo Bay in Afghanistan and has found his way into Mexico. The movie was released in 2011 and was rated R for strong action violence throughout, language throughout and brief drug use/drinking. In March 2011, Joseph Sikora said he was surprised that Rockstar Games selected him for his role as a character in "Max Payne 3". On April 10, 2011 it was announced that he would be taking on the role of a character named "Coach" in Grand Theft Auto V. The announcement read: "The casting of Joseph Sikora for the lead role in GTAV can only mean one thing. Sikora is a sports-fanatic and has been an avid gamer since the age of 5. It makes perfect sense to use him as Coach, whose name is derived from his overwhelming passion for sports gaming (Grand Theft Auto V)." Sikora is a founding member of the New York City theatrical group The Peoples Improv Theater along with members from the Upright Citizens Brigade, including Amy Poehler. They perform in their own improv show called "The Peoples Improv Theater Presents" at the UCB Theatre East in New York City. He also performed in "Bridgetown Comedy Festival" An Evening with You, co-starring Joe Lo Truglio and Paul F. Tompkins, which ran from February 2 through February 4th 2008
